My Small Buddies:-

A year ago today, Bob, him, & I went down to the Armory & signed for voluntary induction. What a case in the world! Never dreamed him & I'd be Sgt's. & Bob a Col. & that I'd be physically fit for gummery!

Sure am glad to know him made Sgt. That one is Alice Mather! Hope Bob gets his sign. Wine with stick together somehow!

No mail & no box yet today but will try again before going to school!

Saw Dad. him is a joke for us: An Am. walked us to a Chinamen in Wash. D.C. the other day & asked him where he could take a crap. The C. asked the Am. to follow him & took him into a huge beautiful bldg. & told him to go ahead & crap on the polished marble floor. The Am. did so & then asked for something to wipe with. The C. promptly jerked a beautiful silk drape from the window & handed it to the Am. who used it. When finished, the Am. said, "This must be some of the Chinese hospitals I've heard so much about." The C. grinned & said, "No, this is the

Some but I gotta quit. rub a hike to eat. check my mail. shave. & go to school so till tomorrow —

I love you all

Japanese Embassy!" Pretty good. eh?

I've written Ruth & tried to tell her just how much I love her! See would it give shock her mother if she knew the kind of correspondence we came on! Whooeee! The old man!

Made half a buck claiming "Buck Yukon" this morning. We call it "Buck Hoover" cause he always loses!

We heard 'em when the song
"Dear Mom" at the show last night.
There were a lot of "human threats!"
Don't know what will do without our moms! We love you all!!

Still cold. Don't think wire some have come "semi-slush" today!
